3. News and Notes

1. Okinawa (a new debuting guy) got a write up in OVACIONES in both Thursday's and Friday's papers with the story being will he pick UWA or EMLL to wrestle for?
2. A small arena in Mexico City, el Pavilion Azteca, has closed and will run no more lucha libre cards.
3. The EMLL announced officially the three month tour of la Arena Mexico, beginning Friday, August 23, 1991, and ending Sunday, December 15, 1991.
4. Ex-commissioner Enrique Llanes wrote an article about los Destruyores (Tony Arce and el Vulcano) which was printed on page eight of the Entertainment Section of ESTO, which is Mexico's largest National Sports Daily (OVACIONES is second, LA AFICION is third, and there are others). I believe but can't swear that it is a weekly feature column.
5. The magazine Box Y Lucha just printed its 2000th weekly edition in late June (which at 52 a year is 38 years).
6. One of Shadito Cruz's 11 children is a girl Lupita Alvarado Nieves Cruz; she is married to the wrestler Alimano. Robin Hood is Aaron Alvarado Nieves.
7. This is mentioned in passing in super Luchas magazine, but it says on page 4 of the 6/15/91 that la Fiera (Arturo Casco) was fired by the EMLL for no-shows and "bringing in his personal problems to work."
8. "el CHacho" Herodes is from Moncolva, Coahuila, Mexico
9. Fabuloso Blondy, in an interview in the same 6/15/91 Super Luchas says "In the US the main interest of the wrestler is the occult (devil worship) of the body; in Mexico, even with the personality of the mask, ..., there is more worship of the styles (work)."

10. el Medico Asesino, Cesareo Manriques, died on June 16, 1960.
11. Kato kung Lee I (Johnny Lezcano Smith), was born in CHiriqui, Panama, but in 1978 was naturalized a Mexican citizen and now has a home in Mexico City.
12. After defeating Kato Kung Lee I last June, el Satanico is now 19 wins and 10 losses in his 29 hair matches in his career.
13. Casanova el Vampiro Canadiense, interviewed in the June 29, 1991, Super Luchas magazine, says he is 24 years old; was born in Montreal, Quebec, Canada; and was trained by Rick Martel. The printed a picture of him in street clothes with a fan and (except for the tatoos on his arm) he looks as preppy and normal a guy as you've ever seen. Very preppy look though. I wonder if his push has anything to do with Martel, though, either in the WWF-connection sense or in the contraband sense.
14. The original "el Vampiro" in Mexican lucha libre was Mario Prado senior.
15. A new comic book series wa issued in Mexico in June, called "las Mascaras en Accion," and will rotate as its hero of the week different EMLL wrestlers. The introductory issued featured Octagon as that week's hero.
